This group came on board the "Guardia Nacional" from Buenos Aires.
 There they had arrived with the "Cornwall" a British ex-war cargo ship.

The first group of African pioneers arrived at Comodoro Rivadavia on board the "Pampa" in the last week of 1902.
 Among the passengers were the Behr family, Francis Behr and wife Margaret Palmer with 8 children, Coulter and family, Bauman and family, and single men were Harrington Fillmore, John Stegman, Eddy Grimbeek and maybe George de Jaar.
